

To Whom it may concern,

With reference to Danny Rutar and the wider team at Redback Biotek I am pleased to share that I have worked successfully in partnership with Redback Biotek and the team for the past three years and envisage a long-term healthy working relationship between our two businesses.

The expertise and knowledge base of Redback Biotek is the perfect compliment to my business which focuses on the physical performance of elite and sub-elite players. At all times the team at Redback have been professional, efficient and effective and I can say that working with the guys has not only been a pleasure but also a huge help in positioning my business as been amongst the leaders in my field.

I am happy to recommend the work and personnel of Redback Biotek and would be pleased to offer myself if you need to speak more on this subject.

Yours Sincerely,
