

To whom it concerns

14 October 2014

Danny Rutar of Redback Biotek Limited has been known to me for many years. His expertise in the area of sport science is internationally recognized. He has a long history of being at the cutting edge in terms of technology in sport.

As well as being a dedicated and trustworthy scientist he is director of Redback Biotek Limited, a company that delivers technological services, support and equipment to universities, colleges and sports associations in Ireland and internationally. I have no hesitation in recommending Danny and his team for business and services.

Yours sincerely

Dr Liam Hennessy
